Summary: This is the story of four pokemons that got their life ruined by humans in a way or an other. Will they get back what they have lost? Will I not make any grammar mistakes? Will they change something in the entire pokemon world? Read and see. PS: Chapters had mayor changes, it's easy to see.

1. Fresh air, new friend

-DISCLAIMER- [or something like that]

"PokÃ¨mon" and "PokÃ©mon mystery dungeon" belong to Nintendo and Chunsoft, and all the citations you may find if I add them aren't made for diffamation of anything else, just for fun. With that being said.

Enjoy.

The night was cloudy but the stars still shined in the dark sky, the fire was heating them nicely and they finally relaxed a bit.

Electrivire wasn't tired and instead of resting as they intended to do he started talking, so he asked his saviour:

"You know pretty much all you need of me, but still, I want to hear you talkin' a bit, where'd you come from? I've never seen pokemons like you around here".

"The night is young, share some bits of our past... Hey, are you listening to me?" The saviour's friend, barely awake, woke him up because he already fell asleep

And so, before he started speaking, he yawned with a tired face:

"Well, you're right, both of you; we lived in a mountain, circled by a thick forest, life was simple and our parents made it even better"

[A tear attempted to escape his proud face but he rubbed his eyes with his arm and the tear disappeared]

"In the morning I used to play with my best friends, in the afternoon we all trained together with our respective parents and in the evening we gone in the respective homes".

Electrivire replied: "A mountain? I would like to visit one, one day, living from birth in a generator ain't that cool and stimulating. Go on".

"Right, but the forest wasn't my perfect choice either, I was just born there and I learnt to live in it, if I had the possibility to chose where I wanted to live, that would be a huge plain" The friend briefly interrupted.

"I was blessed, I think, to have lived in a mountain plenty of rocks to break and challenging runs, however, back from where I was interrupted, life was beautiful, we had anything we would have needed, water from the glaciers and an endless supply of apples and berries... And then..."

[his face got briefly shaded by memories]

Electrivire noticed that and insistently said: "And? But?".

"Well, that's none of your business right now, good night". His saviour concluded with an annoyed face.

His new friends looked at him like to say "you shouldn't have said that".

"Well, err... We still haven't presented ourself... I'm Electivire, n-nice to meet you all" The electric pokemon tried to change subject of the conversation.

"Riolu..." His saviour shortly presented himself.

"I'm Shinx, don't worry, Riolu is like this when tired" The friend said.

"And I'm Zorua" He said with a smile.

"And I haven't noticed you through the whole conversation, HAH" Electivire concluded

They all let go a short laughter and after a brief moment of silence, they started to rest.

2. Electrivire's first fight

As usual, Zorua wake up early to do some recognition of the area but this time he came back earlier.

When Shinx saw him running at such speed towards him, he understood immediately that something was happening, so he hurried waking all up and we heard Zorua yelling:

"Beedrills! Incoming!"

Riolu, a bit dizzy, said:

"wait, wait, what? Are they the same ones of yesterday?"

Shinx replied:

"I don't know, just get up and prepare to run!"

But this time the Beedrills caught us unprepared. Luckily for us they were clustered in one direction so Riolu bravely yelled:

"prepare to fight! Don't let them surround us!"

Shinx prepared his discharge and riolu got in a fighting stance.

Many Beedrills tried to prevent Shinx from charging but Zorua fended them off with feint attacks; an other swarm tried to attack with pin missiles Electrivire but Riolu shoved him off the trajectory and got hit in the process.

Electrivire, to avenge his friend, grabbed the tail of Shinx and with him unleashed a supercharged discharge that modified in a electrical wave that defeated the entire army of beedrills for good but Zorua and also Riolu got hit by it because the electricity arced from Beedrill to Beedrill to them.

The enemies retreated once again but the attention was all for Riolu

"how are you? Answer me!"

Electrivire loudly begged

"I'm fine, I'm fine, a bit battered but fine, how is zorua?"

riolu replied

"I don't know, Shinx! How is he?"

Electrivire shouted to him

"What was that? It was seriously painful. I'm also fine by the way"

Zorua said slowly.

After five minutes Riolu said relieved

"we'd better get away from this place, too much beedrills and we didn't find nothing"

then looking cheerfully to Electrivire

"but a new friend. Agreed?"

"Agreed"

they all replied.

PS: Reviews are welcome, and if you happen to have found many easy to notice grammar mistakes, mind that english is not my first language, and i'm doing my best to look for dumb mistakes and stuff.

3. the calm before

To break the monotony of the walk through the woods Electrivire started speaking:

"this fresh air in my lungs... It's beautiful, at the generator the only smell I could feel was the stink of the oil"

Riolu turned and smiled at him

"you feel the value of the small things only when you miss them"

Zorua said

"so deep"

Shinx jokingly replied

"have I already said that I'm not from this island?"

Zoroua kept saying

"no"

Electrivire replied

"yes, at least two times"

Shinx replied instead.

After a few moments of silence Electrivire asked

"but... What brought you to the power plant? I still haven't figured it out"

Riolu replied

"beedrills didn't like our visit in their territory so we started running and since they were trying to corner us on the go, we decided to burst in that totally-out-of-place grey building to cluster them in only one side"

"ah" Electrivire closed.

About twenty minutes of walking later Zorua loudly said:

"stop!"

they all stopped and looked perplexed to him

"we arrived" he said

Riolu then gone in a direction and Shinx in an other, but before of that, they emptied their satchels and backpacks near Zorua.

Electrivire said, confused

"wh-what are they..."

"we're gonna stay here for the night, my job is done, but yours isn't"

Zorua said with a smile

"since we're near a big town we are going to camp here until night but I have to teach you how to be stealthy"

he concluded

"ok I guess..."

Electrivire replied and sat down with Zorua.

After an hour of "stealth lessons", Electrivire asked

"while we were walking, you said that you aren't of this island, what have you meant with that?"

"I meant that i'm not from this island!"

Zorua replied while laughing

"ok, ok, so, where are you from?"

Electrivire continued

"i'm from a quite far land, called Unova, my mother brought me here, in Sinnoh, while i was even younger"

Zorua explained

"I see, well, now I know what island is this, and where you're from! I lived almost segregated in that building, so I pretty much know nothing about anything"

Electrivire replied smiling

"well, if you want to know anything about this place, I'd be happy to explain you anything, of course I have to know it first!"

Zorua concluded and after that, they both laughed

"so, how do i climb up this..."

"let me show you..."

And they resumed the lessons till sunset.

4. The tempest

"Ok, let's see here..." ... "Leaves, twigs, rocks, charcoal..." ... "More wood" he mumbled to not forget what he was looking for.

He ventured deeper into the forest until he saw a road and when he felt someone singular coming he backed off from there.

"Could it be? ... No, no it can't be, this ability is unique to pokÃ©mons like me..." When he felt him approaching he climbed up a tree.

"No, NO! ..." He whispered when he saw tree humans beneath him.

He was shocked by what his eyes just saw and perfectly matched the perception of before. He felt a horrible feeling that gone from his feet up to his spine, but it was nothing compared to the memories that got rekindled; his heart started beating faster and faster and an uncontrollable anger reborn through his limbs and made his blood hotter than a million of suns.

Without even thinking anymore he dropped down the tree with an aura sphere in his hand and used it to raise the dust from the ground.

Those three humans got so scared by the sudden noise that they leaped to the ground and they turned standing on their back.

When he took control over himself he already had an aura sphere in his hand, breathing heavily and pointing to the face of the "special" human. He closed his eyes and tried to vanquish the aura sphere, but he couldn't, so he smashed it again on the ground and used the dust as coverage for his escape.

He ran and ran, but felt that he was pursued by those tree humans' pokemon, so, after some time he stopped by a tree and turned around.

That pokemon was right at two meters from him, with his cheeks sparkling with electricity.

After a small breath that Pokemon said: "Why have you done that? What were you even thinking of doing to them?!"

Riolu, with all the rage of his body he responded: "HOW DOES IT FEEL BEING TRAPPED IN THERE? THOSE DAMNED RED SPHERES? DOES IT BURN? THE FEEL OF BECOMING THE TOY OF A HUMAN?"

That pokemon changed his face in surprise for such an answer and tried to reply : "I..."

Riolu interrupted him, yelling : "YOU CAN'T EVEN IMAGINE WHAT YOUR OWNER'S KIN TOOK FROM ME, WHAT THEY DID TO ME. YOU DON'T"

And kept yelling "You don't!" until his voice gradually lowered from a yell to a whisper and he felt on his knees in tears.

The witnesser of that scene was thunderstruck. Riolu with his last lump of rage in a fraction of second focus punched the nearby three and draw from it his now covered in wooden spikes arm. His rage fully transformed into pain and desperation.

He looked at the reflection of his face in the puddle of mud, tears and blood and with his pride left he yelled to the trainer's pokemon: "Don't you dare to follow me or I'll break each single bone of your body like twigs!" Then he used his dust technique to get away, leaving a trail of blood and tears.

After a long run towards nowhere he sat down under an other tree, his fur became wet with tears and blood, he cleaned his arm and patched it up with a rag he had into his belt pouch.

"Never again..." he whispered.

He also dried himself up with a piece of cloth.

"The stuff..." He put on the ground his backpack and checked its contents.

"Alright" said with a half-relieved face, but still with the signs of that intense experience.

But before he started scanning his surroundings, he heard some leaves moving. He turned around and saw that yellow mouse again.

Riolu said: "Do as you like, I wish not to speak".

But before he could reply Riolu gasped, the humans were approaching.

He swiftly climbed up a tree again and jumped from branch to branch, but in their direction. They presumably didn't hear him and in a blink of an eye he was again at the tree he blasted down, after a quick glance back he saw that the trainer's pokemon couldn't keep up with him, so, with the stuff he gathered, he hurried back to his friends' shelter.

5. Boring!

"It's getting late, but I still have to find them" Shinx whispered to himself

"Stones, stones, stones, weak pokemons and stones... Mount coronet awaits and we keep on fighting only weaklings"

"What is Riolu thinking of achieving by stay'n here?" He took a deep breath and kept on walking

Three whines and a half later he said: "Enough of this senseless wandering"

Then he turned around and came back to the forest.

While he was in the way for returning he heard some footsteps behind him, but he didn't care and carried on.

He was halfway to the shelter when the footsteps intensified and he turned around.

With his surprise, he realised that he was followed by a tiny Larvitar that cheerfully waved to him when he turned.

Sigh

"Why...Why are you following me?" Shinx asked, bothered by his presence, while examining him

"I don't know, I'm bored!" He replied laughing "Why you took soooooo long to notice me?"

"First: Because I'm confident in my strength and second, I already heard someone following me and for the former reason I told you, I didn't care" The lightning replied with a mocking face.

"Do you want to fight?" Larvitar said while turning around.

"You want me to fight you?" Shinx replied, trying to not laugh

"Not me" The small rock yelled with an evil-ish voice.

"US!"

Suddenly all sort of rock-type pokemons rained from the trees and before backing into the group, that Larvitar shouted: "Get him boys!".

Shinx wasn't all that shocked as he expected to be, in fact he obliterated half of the first wave of geodudes in one chain quick attacks.

The now naive rock realised his mistake and fled into the forest.

Many cold bites and quick attacks later the only pokemon standing up was Shinx.

"Wherever you are, don't forget this lesson!" He shouted when he didn't find the Larvitar

And from the forest he heard him shouting back

"You will pay for this! We'll never forget and we will come back stronger than ever!"
>With a victorious smirk on his face, Shinx gone back to his friends with the few stuff he found.

When he came back, sun was about to disappear in the horizon when he arrived at the shelter.
>"'Vire, Zorua, I'm back" he greeted Electrivire waved to him

>Zorua asked "Welcome back, but why have you taken so long?""Got ambushed by pokemons that couldn't judge wether to let me go or get crushed, and also I didn't find much stuff in that area" he explained

"But where's Riolu?"

"There" Electrivire said pointing right"I don't know how he is or what's he doing, he refused to speak" he closed.

Without turning Riolu greeted his best friend "I was almost worried about you, happy to see you're fine, I'm almost done with this"

"Got the flint for you, nice job with this... Thing" Shinx replied while taking a look at that roofing Riolu made between two close trees with sticks, branches and leaves.
>After grabbing his fella's flint and a stone from the ground he sighed and sat by a unlit but ready campfire.

While he tried to make a spark with the two stones he sadly whispered to him "Will we ever find them?"

"We will, and if they ain't here, we will search 'em in an other place and an other until we find what they took from us"

"We have to do it, for me, for you and for Zorua" Shinx whispered back

"I hope so..." The soul concluded while looking at the sky.

After two good minutes of trial Riolu yelled "Light up already!"

"Can I try?" Electrivire said with a suspicious smirk on his face

"Yeah, no problem" Riolu replied with a both skeptical and delighted face "By looking at me you should have figured out how to do"

In the meanwhile Shinx was telling to a totally uninterested Zorua how boring his trip was but when Electrivire raised his arm up and started the fire with his fire punch, Riolu, Zorua and Shinx just stopped whatever they were doing in surprise.

"It's perfect!" Riolu said with a mixture of surprise and happiness

>"What the?" Shinx gasped
"Holy...!" Zorua said instead, almost expecting such action
>"I don't exactly know where the fire comes from but whatever" Electrivire said while laughing and looking at his fist
"After our stay near the city we can directly go north with that!" Riolu said full of happiness.
>"We should start resting now, it's evening and you all know what we're gonna do at dawn in this city, right?""Fine" Riolu and Shinx said, abandoning themselves to a purifyng rest
>"What are we going to do there? At dawn I mean in that city" Electrivire asked with a perplexed face

"Scavenge for stuff!" they all simultaneously answered

"Fine, I guess, but YOU wake me up at dawn!" He kept say'n while yawning

"I'll do it" Riolu concluded.

And so they rested till dawn.
